The IMC-run Atlanta Market continues to grow in popularity for buyers with brands such as LSA International, Rosenthal and Beatriz Ball, along with a slew of US tabletop and gift companies. We highlight a few exhibitors who will be showcasing their assortments...

What? Atlanta Market | When? 10-16 January | Where? AmericasMart Atlanta

Atlanta Market continues its growth acceleration into 2023 with some 23 showroom updates refreshing its 700+ showrooms for the January 10-16 Market at AmericasMart Atlanta. Beyond the 13 new showrooms, nine expansions and one relocation, significant renewals from top brands and sales agencies further strengthen the gift collection at International Market Centers' (IMC) first market of 2023.

Did you know?

LSA and Rosenthal have expanded their presence in Atlanta for the January show.

"The Winter Atlanta Market, with more gift product than anywhere else, is the jumpstart of the 2023 retail year," says Scott Eckman, IMC executive vice president, chief revenue officer. "With significant new resources and investment from existing exhibitors it also leads in innovation with the promise of unmatched fresh and new ideas and merchandise."

Buyers can explore new gift and lifestyle introductions on 19 floors in all three AmericasMart buildings. In addition to general gift brands found throughout the showroom collection, dedicated neighbourhoods offer easy category sourcing. Gourmet and tabletop is in Building 2, Floors 8-9; juvenile is in Children's World in Building 3, Floor 13; outdoor living is in Building 2, Floor 9-10; and seasonal/ holiday is in Building 1, Floors 16-20.

Updates to the celebrated gourmet, tabletop and housewares collection highlight the strength of Atlanta Market's fine dinnerware, glassware and serveware offerings. One new showroom is Jay Imports Company, Inc. who specialise in fine and casual dinnerware, crystal stemware and giftware, and decorative accessories. Meanwhile, LSA International and Rosenthal Sambonet USA have expanded their presence at the show.

Adding to the permanent showroom collection are hundreds of temporary exhibitors showing gift product in 30 categories.

Atlanta Market's 1,100+ temporary exhibits present artisan products, apparel, children's, gourmet, jewellery, outdoor living, stationery, spa products, tabletop and more, January 11-15, 2023.

LSA has expanded its presence at Atlanta Market, showcasing a selection of assortments from its latest collection. Each material in LSA's collection has been chosen and sourced to lend warmth and tactility to our environments, as distinct shapes, simple profiles and detailed finishes add subtle modernity.

Undulating surfaces and fluid textures add a softened glow to the room when a candle burns within, and the table is laid with cylindrical forms, arched lines and softened silhouettes in high-quality, mouth-blown glass, each inspiring day-to-day living and socialising. They have designed a collection they hope will be shared, will make people welcome, and make one feel at home.

Beatriz Ball

B3 13-S333

Beatriz Ball will unveil its new blue and white Sienna collection of dinnerware in Atlanta, along with new floral linens in similar indigo hues.

Blue will also be a featured colour in new light-as-a-feather stemmed wine glasses and candle holders, both extensions of the popular Cambridge glass collection. Along with items in the company's signature metal, the brand is also working on new Thanni collection designs with a proprietary blue finish that are ideal for coastal living.

Classic blue and white is beautifully soothing, and blends nicely with many of today's top design trends. A great coastal colour combo, but attractive anywhere. Beatriz Ball's blue and white New Orleans Glass Swirl pieces will be enhanced with the addition of many new items of similar hues in Atlanta.
